Collective Post-Acute

Why join the Collective Medical Network?

Collective Medical is the nation's largest and most robust network for care collaboration. Collective's event notification and care coordination platform, Collective Post-Acute is used by care teams across all settings, including: emergent, in-patient, post-acute, mental and behavioral, and ambulatory settings, as well as stakeholders in ACOs and health plans.

What does that mean for SNFs and other post-acute providers?

Because of Collective's diverse user base, SNFs and other post-acute care providers have access to robust and intelligently-sourced patient information at the point of care, including:

- Care team provided care plans
- Prescription histories
- Social determinants
- Utilization patterns
- Advance directives
- Security alerts

What can SNFs do with this information?

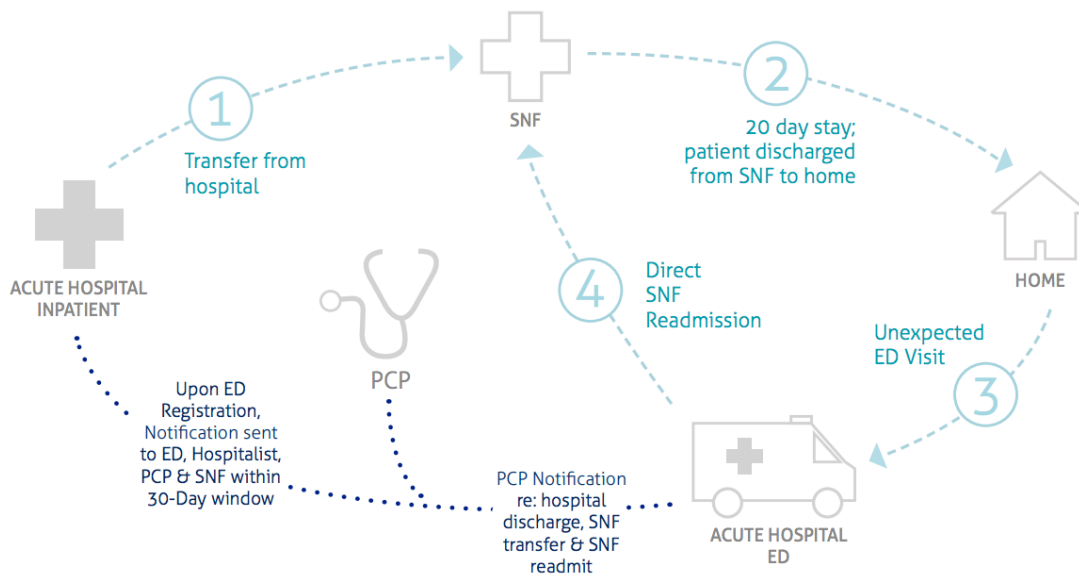

Collective delivers relevant patient information to the right providers at the right time. This actionable information helps SNFs identify complex and at-risk patients and make informed decisions to improve patient outcomes. With the support of Collective, SNFs and other post-acute care providers are empowered to:

- Gain control over care transitions
- Reduce unnecessary readmissions
- Thrive under value-based arrangements
- Strengthen referral relationships
- Maximize existing resources

COLLECTIVE MEDICAL HELPED A LARGE INTEGRATED HEALTH SYSTEM ACHIEVE A 40 PERCENT REDUCTION IN READMISSIONS FOR IDENTIFIED COMPLEX PATIENTS

How does Collective Post-Acute Work?

Collective Post-Acute uses pre-defined populations (e.g. an eligibility file, daily census) to define what information a provider or user sees. Information is collected in real time as patients register in various care settings. The Collective platform then intelligently delivers these patient insights for SNFs within their existing workflows and regardless of existing technology infrastructure.

Are there costs or fees for this service?

No. There are no costs for SNFs and other post-acute providers to join the network and begin using the Collective platform.
